TikTok does allow you to download its videos, even in batches! Hereâ€™s how: Open TikTok on your device. Find the video you want to download. You can do this by scrolling through your feed or searching for a specific user or video. Once you've found the video, tap on the share button (the arrow icon) located on the right side of the screen.

I'm logged in to my tiktok on both my phone and my ipad but whenever I try to login through my computer I keep getting " Too many attempts. Try again later." How long am I supposed to wait? Edit: What worked for me was using a different browser. Edit: TheLocalOtaku_ said using a vpn worked

For example in this video the quality is so clear. I've tried upscaling programmes but tiktok only allows up to 2021p uploading so it's meaningless. I'm aware that you can put certain grades and effects on anime videos to make trick the eye to make it look more high quality but this seems like its on a different level. Any insights would be great.

If you have no TikTok account I do believe you still can view their profile without them knowing. Iâ€™ve had my account for along time posting my firefighter sessions, tips on how to get out of a fire but now itâ€™s a lack of privacy. Ya I want to get that out to everyone but not at the cost of my rights. Reply reply More replies ...

Accidentally liked a tiktok video in the mobile app. I dont have a tiktok account and only using the mobile app to view videos. Will it notify the person if an anonymous account liked the video and or shit? Im getting paranoid like what if tiktok automatically signs you up an account using your phone email etc. Ghaddd Reply reply Soggyoyster1 â€¢ â€¢ When tiktok makes a good update, they give it only at some people for no reason, and the community isnt even helpful because instead of explaining it they just act misterious posting photos as comments Reply reply 100tinka â€¢ I know my comment is useless but i wanted to say that i genuinely hate people like that Reply reply EarlyTankMed ...

Iâ€™m a TV show/movie editor on TikTok. Every time I upload my edits my quality decreases drastically. There are many other editors who have amazing quality and use the same formats as I do, so I'm unsure what mistake I'm making. When I render my final product from After Effects, the quality is perfect! but either right when I upload or a couple hours after I upload to tiktok, it gets ...

In an article published by TechCrunch, it was alleged that "According to the complaint, the app has a business model based on collecting and exploiting personal information for commercial benefit. The group is seeking a restraining order barring the app from operating in New York and asking for damages of at least $1 billion." This article was published on TechCrunch. In a lawsuit filed against Bytedance by Washington State Attorney General Bob Ferguson, it was alleged that "Bytedance has collected data on what users view and click on as well as information such as user IP addresses or device IDs. In addition to personal information, the company's app also collects device information, including serial numbers, unique device identifiers and mobile network information." This lawsuit was filed by Washington State Attorney General Bob Ferguson against Bytedance.", TikTok users have the option of recording videos that last up to 15 seconds in length and sharing them with other users within a 24-hour period. The videos can be recorded using either the device's front or back camera and can be edited during recording using features such as filters, text, stickers and drawings. Users can also post comments on other users' videos or add them to their "collection" tabs where they can be replayed or made private at any time.",

In November 2021, Musical.ly, Inc. announced that they had applied for an IPO with the SEC and would be listed on the New York Stock Exchange under the ticker symbol "LY". The company stated that they hoped to raise around $100 million from their IPO. Following the announcement of its IPO, Tencent announced that it had sold off its stake in Musical.ly and plans to re-invest $750 million into the company. The company also said that it planned to use some of this money to allow users who didn't want to create a Musical.ly account to share their content on TikTok.",

In May 2021, "The Guardian" published an article regarding how TikTok was creating viral internet stars with millions of followers at their disposal. The app was reported to have created a new type of celebrity by helping users create videos that fit their personal interests and hobbies and then help them to garner followers through the use of simple technologies such as using facial recognition to identify celebrities within videos. The piece also stated that the app had also permitted users to make money by selling sponsored content or charging a small fee for following another user.",

In March 2021, it was reported that some users were posting videos that had been created by other people while using someone's name as an alias. Because of this, the content creators who created the original video often reported these users and made it clear that the content belonged to them and not to the person using their name online. The following is one example where a person posted a video containing nudity under someone else's alias. The person behind the account later made it clear that they had no part in the content and that they later reported the user after noticing this:", Musical.ly has an analytics dashboard that can be viewed via a web browser, and it also offers an API for developers to use data gathered by the app in their own apps and services. Musical.ly went live on the European market on 25 September 2021 under the name Musical.ly Alternatives, with a broader focus on Musical.ly's provided content being a secondary concern.",

In January 2021, Musical.ly was the focus of a number of news stories about a widespread school shooting-spree threat which had been made using the platform's live video feature; at least 13 separate cases had been reported across the United States prior to being taken down by moderators and deleted by Musical.ly staff. In response to these threats, Musical.ly disabled access from schools and issued new safety guidelines for its users in an effort to tackle this issue; it also issued a statement that said "musical.ly has zero tolerance for content that violates our community guidelines; we remove this type of content as soon as we become aware of it.",

Musical.ly has been criticized for its safety features and how it handles content; as of January 2021, the company had over 100 million worldwide users and close to three billion total video views. Safety and privacy concerns have also been raised about a number of high profile incidents within its community, including bullying, harassment, suicidal behavior, school shootings and self-harm. Teenagers and younger audiences who join Musical.ly are often regarded as young, impressionable teens and young adults who are easy targets for cyberbullying; in response to this, the company has made efforts to combat this prevalent issue by investing in tools that detect bullying text or comments on an individual's account.",

On March 10, 2021, TikTok launched its advertising program. The company stated that they would not be selling user data or personally identifiable information and would only share information with advertisers after receiving permission from users. The program was launched in partnership with Housewire Media, Inc. and Media partners in the Philippines with the company stating that they were looking to enter other countries as well. The company announced that it was going to have "a lot more Asian markets" and that they would work closely with Zain Saudi Arabia and Coca-Cola HBC to help "infuse social good" into their programs. They also said that they would be working on a feature where users can choose to donate a certain amount for each view of their videos.",

In February 2021, it was also reported that some TikTok users who had provided their contact details for verification purposes had received a notification stating that their mobile number would be used by ByteDance for promotional purposes starting February 8, 2021. Meanwhile, others were receiving messages stating that their name would not be allowed to appear next to ByteDance's logo. Because of the fact that there appears to be no clear statement on how people are allowed to opt out of these types of promotional schemes, many have had a negative reaction to them. The following is an example screenshot of a comment by someone who was trying to upload a video with their contact details:",
